My congregation is in flames
I can't seem to find my aim
Complete lack of logic sense
Still strapped within my own fence

Feel just like a knucklehead Just can't realize what's left I've had enough of this façade Time to surpass once and for all

It's a fight to stay alive For my light has gone missing It's a fight to stay alive It's a fight against myself

It's a fight to stay alive
It's a fight against my imaginary harm
It's a fight to stay alive
It's a fight against myself

Became a foreigner in my own head My sword is double-edged Might have to put away my sledge
