

Cold Fish

Lissie

First off
I refuse to let you get to me
Now secondly
I'm amused at your desperation, frankly
Oh, man in eager times,
It's your ego and my hide and you slither slide

You can't eat what you can't catch
You just stare you're such a cold fish
You might think that you have won
But we've only just begun
And I'll always be a step ahead, yeah

And furthermore what now we're keeping score
And lastly it must get taxing, ah
Trying to surpass me
Your wings get waxy

Hot damn, I do what I can
I focus on the things that I like
I let it slide

You can't eat what you can't catch
You just stare you're such a cold fish
You might think that you have won, but we've only just begun
And I'll always be a step ahead, yeah
You can't rely on what you don't have
You're all style and no substance, and well
You got it backwards and you don't care who you hurt
You're a poser and a problem

We are born and raised in a heartbeat
If it's lonely and down, would you stick with me
And I hitch my ride, into the rising sun

I thank god, that I've been alive
To get up and do something with my life
I'm not backing down, no

You can't eat what you can't catch
You just stare you're such a cold fish
You might think that you have won, but we've only just begun
And I'll always be a step ahead, yeah
You can't rely on what you don't have
You're all style and no substance, well
You got it backwards and you don't care who you hurt
You're a poser and a problem

Say it, say it, so sorry to hear
You might think that you have won, but we've only just begun
And I'll always be a step ahead
