

Not From This World

Lord Of The Lost

The night was black as coal, helpless like a child

With hands enchained and cold I was looking up in fright

You are not from this world, you are born in the flames

And you're not from this world, oh please tell me your name

In a blaze of blinding white but I still saw as I closed my eyes

Time stand still