

Accidentally on Purpose

Love and Theft

I know its not your fault, you probably didn't even mean it at all

When you left my heart in pieces on the floor, yeah

Said you wanted more now, two feet out out the door, mmm mmm

You accidentally on purpose got me Into falling for you

Falling, falling

The way you loved me the way you touched me

And it had me unglued nothing I could do

You accidentally on purpose got me Into falling for you

You accidentally on purpose got me Into falling for you

I thought I'd always be the kinda guy that would never give all of me

But the day that you came knocking on my heart, yeah

I just fell apart, you had me from the start, mmm mmm

You accidentally on purpose got me Into falling for you

Falling, falling

The way you loved me the way you touched me

And it had me unglued nothing I could do

You accidentally on purpose got me Into falling for you

You accidentally on purpose got me Into falling for you

You didn't accidentally sell your place and move in with me

And you didn't accidentally tell your momma that you loved me

What was the purpose, was it on purpose

You accidentally on purpose got me into falling for you

You accidentally on purpose got me into falling for you