

Union Pacific Line

Lucero

Train left the station, I sat and watched it go.
She left me here waiting. Baby - I love you. Don't you know
That I can't stay here and just waste away.
There's something out there that's calling my name.
I'll see you again, but don't wait on me.
Just let me go - train's 'bout to leave.

I wish I could get to the other side.
That Union Pacific Line can take you back home.
Can take you back home.

I picture her dancing with the boys in the bars all night.
She might not be theirs, but she sure as hell ain't mine.
Now don't be like that.. please understand
It's more than a job, it's more than a man.
I'll see you again, but don't wait on me.
Just let me go - train's 'bout to leave.

I wish I could get to the other side.
That Union Pacific Line can take you back home.
Can take you back home.

Another day, another train.
Until then, I'll wait.
I'm not getting over you.
Another day. I can't say
That we'll see what we can take.
You know that it hurt me too.
I'm not getting over you.

I wish I could get to the other side.
That Union Pacific Line can take you back home.
Can take you back home.
