

A Million Shades of Blue

Lynn Anderson

The dying flames of love are slowly flickering
Upon the walls of dreams I built around you
The snow will fade away leaving scars of loneliness
And my world will be a million shades of blue
My tears will fall on any embers you leave of the rose colored love that we once knew
My plan for happiness will soon be in ashes
And my world will be a million shades of blue [ piano ]
My tears will fall...