

He Ain't You

Lynn Anderson

There's nothing wrong with his kissing
Or the sweet touch of his hand
I only know there's something missing
I guess I'll never understand

I close my eyes and I see you
Clear as I'm seeing you today
There's just no way he'll ever be you
And that's the price I have to pay

But he holds me tight when he finds me crying at night
I know he's doing the best he can
But he ain't you babe
Sometimes it shows that he ain't you babe
I think he knows that he ain't you babe
No he ain't you babe

You always thought I'd be yours only
And like a fool I let you down
Now I'm his and ooh it's lonely
Is it too late to turn around

Cause he holds me tight when he finds me crying at night
And i know he is doing the best he can
But he ain't you babe
Sometimes it shows that he ain't you babe
I think he knows that he ain't you babe
No he ain't you babe
Sometimes it shows that he ain't you babe
I think he knows that he ain't you babe
No he ain't you babe
Sometimes it shows that he ain't you babe
I think he knows that he ain't you babe
