

Leap of Faith

Amy Macdonald

You were young girl, trying to get far
Trying to show the world who You really are
But they hate on You, and They pray on You, and You'll never know
But You could feel so blue, So You wished it all away, Dreamed a better place
Dreamed by yourself, That You can feel salvation
Oh Oh, Oh don't feel to calm

I don't know, if it's Yes or No from me, but
All You do is hold me back
Standing on the water's edge
Dreaming of a better place
I'd feel the air again
I'd feel the air again

You were Young boy, born in wrong place
Nothing to your name, but a smile on Your face
And they tell You just They're the same
But You turned around, started from the ground
Take the next step: find a better place
And heal, heal, heal, heal Yourself

I don't know, if it's Yes or No from me, but
All You do is hold me back
Standing on the water's edge
Dreaming of a better place
I'd feel the air again
I'd feel the air again

I don't know, if it's Yes or No from me, but
All You do is hold me back
Standing on the water's edge
Dreaming of a better place
I'll take the leap
I'll take the leap of faith

Standing on the world's edge
Dreaming of a better place
Looking to Yourself, and ease the pain
Standing on the water's edge
Dreaming of a better day
I'll take the leap
I'll take the leap of faith
