

Maybe Tonight

Magnum

Maybe tonight
Remember to think of the years
When wrong equalled right
And someone else cried all your tears
All roads are rough, don't matter that much
But maybe tonight, maybe tonight

Maybe tonight
You'll think of the rules that god broke
Try as you might
Surrounded by fools that still hope
Judgement in haste, locked in this place
But maybe tonight, maybe tonight

Angels may grace your table
And angels rock your cradle
Angels will bring you the morning
Angels hear you calling

Maybe tonight
Remember to think of the years
When wrong equalled right
And someone else cried all your tears
All roads are rough, don't matter that much
But maybe tonight, yes, maybe tonight

Angels may grace your table
And angels rock your cradle
Angels will bring you the morning
Angels hear you calling
Angels will bring you the morning
Angels hear you calling