Phantom of Paradise Circus

Magnum

There's a room it's all broke and tattered Where they say someone died And the girl she ain't sure what happened So she thinks she's alive

Hey come and walk the wire with me Right to the other side Yeah come and walk the wire with me Eyes really open wide

But night after night she's still walking alone The ghost of a memory once so well known Though no-one can think of her real name She still hears the sound of the crowd in vain

Rising up on a white horse she came
Every night she would ride
Deep in touch with her Zodiac signs
And her Indian guide
There was magic in the air
Danger followed behind
She appeared in a circle of flame
And the ringmaster cried

It's a place, that's too long forgotten Though you'll still hear the sounds But the flower will no longer blossom and no people come round

She's walking on the wire again A wave to greet them all She's walking on the wire again Don't know she's gonna fall

But no-one's aware that she's trapped there in time She still keeps repeating the very same line Yeah find me a preacher with tales to tell I'll - I'll show him something to ring his bell

Standing up there like a shadow Dressed in scarlet and in gold Standing waiting for the moment A story forever to be told
