

Dude, Are You Kidding Me?

Man Overboard

Where do I start?
How do I begin to describe the way I mistake every shadow
for you being here.
And if I get this wrong one more time
I'll swan dive off the overpass.

(Let's just pretend you know who I am)
I pretend that you're in my car.
Tracing my thoughts and you're making me whole,
(Let's just pretend you know who I am)
but the never ending solo nights fade into let down days
and I'm back home without you (I am...)
Without you...
You'll never understand!

Your skin looks so smooth but I wouldn't know,
because the lock on your door is keyless.
Cold air has made me numb,
and this town seems so deceased without you.
So I'll write more songs about you!

(Let's just pretend you know who I am)
I pretend that you're in my car.
Tracing my thoughts and you're making me whole,
(Let's just pretend you know who I am)
but the never ending solo nights fade into let down days
and I'm back home without you (I am...)
Without you, without you...
You'll never understand!

At night I dream of how things could have been
At night I blame myself for how it went

(Let's just pretend you know who I am)
I pretend that you're in my car.
Tracing my thoughts and you're making me whole,
(Let's just pretend you know who I am)
but the never ending solo nights fade into let down days
and I'm back home without you (I am...)
Without you...
You'll never understand