Wrote For Luck

Manic Street Preachers

I wrote for luck They sent me you I sent for juice They sent me poison I hold the line You form a queue Try nothing hard Theres nothing else you can do You can try But you cant chain me I can sniff, bend, stand and bend and roll over I dont breathe I just dance Theres more than one sign And its getting less When youre wet Youre getting dryer You used to speak the truth But now youre a liar You used to speak the truth But now youre clever I wrote for luck They sent me you I sent for juice They sent me poison I hold the line You form a queue Try nothing hard Theres nothing else you can do And when youre wet Youre getting dryer You used to speak the truth But now youre a liar You used to speak the truth But now youre clever And when its hot You start to melt Cos youre not made of cheese Youre made of chocolate And when its cold You tend to cry Keep on piling out And not putting by
