

Wait for Love

Marié Digby

Seven long days since I first saw you
It felt so right, you felt it too
But when I fell for you
I should've thought this through
Cause you're a thousand miles from my heart
I can't stand that we're so far apart
I don't know even what we are

So I wait for your touch
And I wait for your kiss
And I wait for the day that I'm here in your arms
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
And when I'm awake I'm dreaming of you
And when I'm asleep I'm thinking of you
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
Should I wait for three little words that we're so scared of [?]

Late at night, we're back on the phone again
I'll see your face, but don't know when
I jump right to the end
Before it can begin, oh
Ever after in this fairytale
One look, I'm caught under your spell
Will it last? Only time will tell

So I wait for your touch, and I wait for your kiss
And I wait for the day that I'm here in your arms
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
And when I'm awake I'm dreaming of you
And when I'm asleep I'm thinking of you
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
Should I wait for three little words that we're so scared of [?]

When I think about the one I want to spend all the rest of my life
The only one, the only one is you
At the end of everyday I close my eyes, the one that I lay beside
The only one that I see is you

So I wait for your touch, and I wait for your kiss
And I wait for the day that I'm here in your arms
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
And when I'm awake I'm dreaming of you
And when I'm asleep I'm thinking of you
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
Should I wait for love? Should I wait for love?
Should I wait for three little words that we're so scared of [?]
