

Submariner

Marnie

Your tired eyes
Leave me to the wilderness, leave me to the lions
And I see you there with the sun in your hand and the wind in your hair
A sorry man now the glory's gone
For you, for you,
He did it all for you

And your selfless pride
Bottled in a submarine
Leave it to the ocean
And I hold your hand
Sending shivers right down to the base of my spine
A lonely man, he's the only man
Who did it all
Who did it all for you

And you sold your soul to the deep blue sea
A submariner whose cool heart could never be free
Let him drift out on the tide
And you saved your heart for the deep blue sea
A submariner who promised to make you believe
That you'll never be apart

Your final reprise
Sail out on the heady seas
To salute devotion
And I see you there with the sun in your hand and the wind in your hair
A stoic man
A heroic man
Who did it all
Who did it all for you

And you sold your soul to the deep blue sea
A submariner whose cool heart could never be free
Let him drift out on the tide

And you saved your heart for the deep blue sea
A submariner who promised to make you believe
That you'll never be apart

And you sold your soul to the deep blue sea
A submariner whose cool heart could never be free
Let him drift out on the tide

And you saved your heart for the deep blue sea
A submariner who promised to make you believe
That you'll never be apart
