

Nobody But You

Mary J. Blige

I can't sleep, I'm lonely
If only you're here to lay with me, lay with me
Long days, and longer nights don't feel right
If you're not here by my side, by my side

I'm thinking of running away
Into your arms to a place
Where I know that I'm gonna stay, gonna stay
People with so much to say
But I'm only hearing the words
That you left me with on that day, on that day

Cause I don't really care for
No, I don't really care for
Nobody but you
Nobody but you, baby, no
The only one I'm there for
No, I don't really care for
Nobody but you
Nobody but you, baby

Nobody but you, you, you, you, you, you
Nobody but you, you, you, you, you, you

Lately, I'm faded, it's hazy
Won't you come and clear my mind, clear my mind
I won't be safe tonight
When you're the only comfort in my life, oh, in my life

I'm thinking of running away
Into your arms to a place
Where I know that I'm gonna stay, gonna stay

Cause I don't really care for
No, I don't really care for
Nobody but you
Nobody but you, baby, no
You're the only one I'm there for
The only one I care for
Nobody but you
Nobody but you, baby

Nobody but you, you, you, you, you, you
Nobody but you, you, you, you, you, you

Nobody, nobody baby
Nobody, nobody baby
Nobody, nobody baby, baby, baby

Cause I don't really care for
No, I don't really care for
Nobody but you
Nobody but you, baby, no
You're the only one I'm there for
The only one I care for
Nobody but you
Nobody but you, baby

Nobody but you