I can't believe your thinking Save everyone, inside you Take everything Fake everything Save everything About me

All of you, all right
Just because, I want to know
Do you still come last night clear eyes pale
You never got there even though you say you will
Sorry now that you've fallen from my eyes
That's the truth

Why are you telling me about everything Why tell me about anything You're just waiting for her to come apart You're just waiting for her

Take everything Fake everything Save everything