

Said And Done

Meg & Dia

When we're comfortable and we're all grown up,
When it's all said and done, will you still love me?
When those younger girls are more beautiful
And I'm old but I'm still tryin', will you still love me?

Will you still get up when I walk in?
Will we still make love without stoppin' to breathe?
Oh baby, will you still love me?

When that man pulls up, gets his papers out,
When it's all said and done, will you still love me?
If we lose our home and our children go,
When it's all said and done, will you still love me?

Will you still get up when I walk in?
Will we still make love without stoppin' to breathe?
Will you still stand up when I'm broken?
Will you still bother without choosin' to leave?
Oh baby, will you still love me?
Baby, will you still love me?
