

End of Everything

Melanie C

I've finally gone and told you, this act of ours is over
A future torn apart
& If you'd asked me a year ago where I'd be, without you there beside me
I wouldn't know where to start

I should be crying, head in my hands and hiding
Or fired up like lightening
But I don't feel a thing
I should be broken from all these words unspoken
Now it's all unfolding
But I don't feel a thing

Does my blood run cold?
Is my heart made of stone?
Is this all too much to let it go?
Oh no, I'm not scared
Won't let these eyes see red
Is this the end of everything I know?

If it's the end of everything
Why don't I feel a thing?

Lately, been thinkin' how you shaped me
Believin' I was crazy for never losing faith
Now I question, was it really your intention?
Were you wasting my potential
To keep me in my place?

I should be crying, head in my hands and hiding
Or fired up like lightening
But I don't feel a thing
I should be broken from all these words unspoken
Now it's all unfolding
I don't feel a thing

Does my blood run cold?
Is my heart made of stone?
Is this all too much to let it go?
Oh no, I'm not scared
Won't let these eyes see red
Is this the end of everything I know?

If it's the end of everything
Why don't I feel a thing?

Does my blood run cold?
Is my heart made of stone?
Is this all too much to let it go?
Oh no, I'm not scared
Won't let these eyes see red
Is this the end of everything I know?

If it's the end of everything
Why don't I feel a thing?
