How Does It Feel Right Now

Melissa Manchester

He's in the market for a hiding place He'll pay a very good price And he'll try anything To cut the pain behind his lonely eyes She honestly believed He would have changed somehow, but

How does it feel right now? Hold on Do you remember How does it feel right now? He's gone You're acting so surprised Just open up your eyes You're only wasting time

Inside a baby's crying all the time Ain't getting what she needs Outside the woman's giving all she can But she forgets to breathe She'll always be the same She's got to change somehow, but
