

Confined

Mesh

How can you accept it's just the way
When everyday's the same old wash of grey
Everyday the air just tastes the same

And everywhere I look there's nothing new Soaked through with the subtle shades of blue
And now you say you're happy here with me
How can you be?

Are you and me in this place forever?
Are you and me in this place forever?
Stuck in this hole together

Couldn't be the one who's never tried
To get a better grip on another life
To get another view from my front room

You say I've got ideas above my place
That I try to deny what is harder to face
I say I'm going in and I'm coming through
So why not you?

Are you and me in this place forever?
Are you and me in this place forever?
Stuck in this hole together
