Start

Mew

They are useless hangup cures All except that drink of yours

No one to leave the light on And help you choose the right song I try to write but it's wrong Nothing feels right with you gone

Over hedges high Climbs a smiling spy

And now you shift your shoelace And wipe the crumbs off your face No one should get what you got Nothing should end where you start