

Wild River

Michael Cretu

Here I see you flowing
Thru the lonely northern country.
Here I see you untamed.
You rush thru distant forests.

Plunge down deep ravines,
In snowy mountains.
Sweep over broad grassy plains.

Wild wild river!
You're the sense of my life.
Here I was born
And here I'll die.
On your banks I hear your whisper
Of my destiny.
You rippling waters tell me
How I can be free.

Wild wild river!
You're the sense of my life.
Here I was born
And here I'll die.

Now I feel you flowing
Thru the canyons of my mind.
Now I feel you bringing
Fresh hope and inspiration.

I return to you,
To you crystal waters
That tell me the meaning of it all.

Wild wild river!
You're the sense of my life.
Here I was born
And here I'll die.
On your banks I hear your whisper
Of my destiny.
You rippling waters tell me
How I can be free.

Wild wild river!
You're the sense of my life.
Here I was born
And here I'll die.
On your banks I hear your whisper
Of my destiny.
You rippling waters tell me
How I can be free.

Wild wild river!
You're the sense of my life.
Here I was born
And here I'll die.