

What's It Like Now

Mikky Ekko

What's it like now? Let's just say it's hard to remember
Every light's out, every scar's open and tender
You made me a prop for your stage
Said you just rattle your cage
Only to realize that I'm still living in the wild

What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now

What's it like now? I become your favorite pretender
Keep me tied down, keep your mind off of my temper
One day they'll laugh in your face
You put your past in the grave
Only to realize the future's still out in the wild

I sleep in alleyways and waterfalls to find where I begin
I see the future and the past, I feel the present caving in
I wash my hands of it and trade it for a world inside my head
Can't remember what you said

What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now

What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now
What's it like now, what's it like now