

Love Letter Typewriter

Mineral

Summer unfolded like a tapestry
And you were there as you have always been

There glowing where the sky meets with the trees
Air softly crowing, singing fears to sleep

Will you ever know how much I love you for that
Will you ever know how much I love you