I feel the sun, it makes me feel alive, it keeps me warm, like an honest man lying. In these lonely days, she's all that I have, a constant reminder, of life moving past. Time rolls by me like the wind. and I'll keep flying 'til the end. I feel the sun, she gives me what I need, she don't take a thing, not one thing from me. She said she'd never leave me, she promised she would stay. now the darkest night, has taken her away.