

Just to save yourself
You let him bear the pain
You turned back and left
Your heart is just untamed

Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your veins, your veins

He's knocking on your door
And he calls you by your name
Can you hear it, can you go
Take your cross and follow

Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your veins
Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your veins, your veins

It caused you pain but it caused him death
Sufferings you shouldn't forget
And his love wont fade and your fate can change

Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your veins
Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your veins

Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your veins
Then you thought it starts to fade
The light you knew inside your...the light you knew inside your veins, your veins