So many unanswered questions about those who hate so much Most of which are mislead most of which are untouched They resort to violence to forcefeed their fascist views All we see is blood stained boots for no real reason on the news Is there ever a second thought that slips on through their mind That this is sick and wrong that this is so unkind No tolerance for ignorance that's the way it should be I'll try not to judge you but I know there's two sides to see There's much more to me, why can't you see There's two sides to see