

Return To Love

Nana Mouskouri

Walking in the dark I feel so near you
All alone and yet I think I hear you
Is it just a dream or just a memory
Could it be your arms that hold me tight

If the pouring rain feels like I kiss you
Could it be the tears of how I missed you
Is it just a dream or just a memory
Could it be your arms that hold me tight

You return to love tonight
You return to love tonight
Whisper that you're here my love
And walk me through the rain
You return to love tonight
You return to love tonight
Show me little tenderness
And be my love again

Walking in the dark I feel so near you
All alone I think I hear you

Is it just a dream or just a memory
Could it be your arms that hold me tight

You return to love tonight
You return to love tonight
Whisper that you're here my love
And walk me through the rain
You return to love tonight
You return to love tonight
Show me a little tenderness
And be my love again
You return to love tonight
You return to love tonight
Show me little tenderness
And be my love again