

From Darkness to Light, Pt. I

Narnia

In this time
We gather 'round a thousand faces
But do we care

In this time
We're following your thousand traces
But do we dare
We carry our dreams in our hearts
For what they were
Was back in time
Surrounded by emptiness and space
Denying the void in our hearts

Hanging by a thread
I'm praying
When life has run aground
And winds have turned
I live and I learn through deserts, sorrow and despair

Life is frail
Love is pain when night is falling
But strong as steel
I hold my breath
Waiting for the phone to ring
Time is standing still
I pray in the night
Seconds like hours
Passing by
And she saw the angels standing
By your side

Hanging by a thread
I'm praying
When life has run around
And winds have turned
I live and I learn through deserts, sorrow and despair

Hanging by a thread
I'm praying
Begging you to please take my hand
I kneel and I trust in all the promises you've made

I open my eyes
Freed from the burden
Carried within
And I thank you for showing me the way
From darkness to light
