

Daring To Be

Natalie Grant

I've had enough of the same old
Tired ordinary world
Telling my heart that I'm nothin'
But an ordinary girl
So sick and tired of falling for that lie every time
I've got a desire just to find out if there's more
And it starts tonight

I'm waving goodbye to my pretty little life
Taking your hand and crossing that line
Daring to leave the old me
Shout it out loud, I'm not ashamed
Diving in now, and so not afraid
Hello to all that You see
And everything You made me
I'm daring to be

Perfectly safe and complacent
Those are words Your love's replaced
With fearless and brave, and courageous
Yeah, that's who I am today

I'm waving goodbye to my pretty little life
Taking your hand and crossing that line

Daring to leave the old me
Shout it out loud, I'm not ashamed
Diving in now, and so not afraid
Hello to all that You see
And everything You made me
I'm daring to be

Can you hear it?
Calling every heart to come alive
Pulling us deeper
To the life that we were meant to find
And it starts tonight

I'm waving goodbye to my pretty little life
Taking your hand and crossing that line
Daring to leave the old me
Shout it out loud, I'm not ashamed
Diving in now, and so not afraid
Hello to all that You see
And everything You made me
I'm daring to be
