

Letting Go

Neil Sedaka

It's too easy to cry
So I'm not gonna try
I'm not dying for love any more.
Promises won't keep me
As we never kept them before.
I believed all the lies
Fell in love with your eyes,
Hung up whenever you smiled.
Getting over you
Is truly gonna take me a while.

Why should letting go
Come as such a heartache,
Leave us here in pieces,
Leave us feeling low.
You'd think that letting go
Would help to mend the heartbreak,
You'd think that we can do it
By letting go.

In the night all alone,
Hangin' out on my own,
Having known all along it was true
There's never been a time
I wanted anybody but you.
I've accepted my fate,
Maybe hung on too late,
How I hate the delay of goodbye.
Time to break away,
Damned if I can even say why.

Why should letting go
Come as such a heartache,
Leave us here in pieces,
Leave us feeling low.
You'd think that letting go
Would help to mend the heartbreak,
You'd think that we can do it
By letting go.

Why should letting go
Come as such a heartache,
Leave us here in pieces,
Leave us feeling low.
You'd think that letting go
Would help to mend the heartbreak,
You'd think that we can do it
By letting go.

Letting go, letting go, letting go.