

Subliminal Messages

Never Shout Never

I'm thinking about moving to California.
Where it is warmer
And all the girls look so damn good, but they're so annoying.
And honestly I don't even care I'm so fed up with all the subliminal messages
Deep down in my mind

I'm ready for something new a new neighborhood to call my own.

I swear I don't have a home anymore
So I'll have a good time wasting all my time

I'm thinking about moving to California.
To see what happens
Where all the grass it grows so green and it's barely legal.
But honestly I don't even care I'll smoke a couple months away with you
Cos I ain't got nothing better to do than get high with you.

In our new hood to call our own I swear I don't have a home anymore
So I'll have a good time wasting all my time.

Spending time on the things that I don't really think about
Those type of things that I usually joke about
Like falling in love in a tropical place right under the sun yeah
I got a new feeling inside
I'm waking up early along with the sunrise
Everything's good
Everything's fine
Everything's alright

In our new hood to call our own
I swear I don't have a home anymore so
I'll have a good time wasting all my
Have a good time wasting all your time.