The Last Livin' Song

Night In Gales

It takes a dead man To write the last livin' song To twist the fast livin' tongue To sing these last words along

It takes a dead man To ride the last livin' hone To set the last livin' tone To sing these last words alone

I'm pushin' up the daisies for this reaper's singalong Give it up to the last livin' song I'm spittin' deadmouth rabies for the downsome and the wrong Give it up to the last livin' song

It takes a dead man To ink the last livin' doom To trip the last livin' tomb To tear these last words in two

I'm pushin' up the daisies for this reaper's singalong Give it up to the last livin' song I'm spittin' deadmouth rabies for the downsome and the wrong Give it up to the last livin' song

This is the last livin' song
