Believe

Run this race, it will make you cry big tears black as coal
You fight so hard for some dignity
In a world out of control
I have seen hope whither beyond despair
And great man's visions fail
Yet everyday somewhere the sun does shine
So don't tell me it's too late
To believe a little bit in yourself
Is it clear I just want to help
Both your blue eyes and your tears
They won't get you far
You must believe a little bit in yourself
To believe a little bit in yourself
Is it clear I just want to help
Both your blue eyes and your tears
They won't get you far
