Every Beginning Ends

Noah Cyrus

You went to sleep without saying you love me
I guess I thought you already knew
You've been so cold and far from from me, darling
Someone's at fault but I'm not blaming you
I can't remember the last time you touched
Well, I can't recall you making a move
Doesn't seem that long ago, darling
We'd go the whole weekend and not leave our room
You have to wake up every morning
And chose to love someone
But I'm finding that harder
The more that I'm falling out of love with you
You used to kiss me without a reason
Nobody's made me laugh like you do
We had some good times, didn't we honey?
But now every beginning is ended with you
You have to wake up every morning
And chose to love someone
But I'm finding that harder
The more that I'm falling out of love with you
That I'm falling out of love with you