

Hologram

Olivia Anna Livki

One, two, yeah,
one, two, three, four!

I would like, I would like, I really would like some company.
I would like, I would like, I really would like some company.

You see, I would like you to provide me with some company.
But I would like to know more about your company...

So I...

I go to the ministry. And everytime I come around everybody's real nice, everybody's real nice every time I come around. But there's just one thing that strikes me, Ma'am.

Everybody is a hologram. Look!

One two three four...

And three two one...
Makes me get the gun.

See, now when I'm uptight I really would like some company.
See, now when I'm uptight I really would like some company.

See I got this invoice for my TV after a man in a suit came and criminalized me. Then he googled my CV, now he's coming every Friday for tea and cookies trying to advise me so I...

I go to the ministry. And everytime I come around everybody's real nice, everybody's real nice every time I come around. But there's just one thing that strikes me, Ma'am.
Everybody is a hologram. Look!

-Sorry I took that gun.
-What was that?

- I don't know...
-Will you look around? They're knockin' at your doors, hone!

-Come on, listen! Listen!
See now when I'm uptight you know I could kill. Cause each time someone's making me happy against my will.

"Please can I help you Ma'am? Ma'am, I'm a hologram. This place is a hologram. My face is a holo---a haha. I'm wife to a hologram. My life is a hologram. Your dog is a hologram. (Oh by the way). God is a holo---a haha!"
