

Reopening the Gates

Omen

I've held on long to past dreams they haunt me, will i heed
The call well I'm turning back, come with me.

Play that game just one more time can you pay that
Price, throw my hands up to the sky stop and wonder why.
Time to release my gates can't you hear them swing.

Search threw past lives to find the snake that led me. The Path was long & winding but now redemption means everything

Come with me across this land back to the place where
It all began. Accompany to the reopening.

Play that game just one more time can you pay that
Price, throw my hands up to the sky stop and wonder why
Time to release my gates can't you hear them swing.