

You'll embrace your one truth
You will terminate
That devilish cold
Anywhere
And hold me there
In your healing arms
Even if the wind blows
Trying to expand
The depth of the snow
In our hearts
See that boiled white
At a glance

Cos I have tasted
Your delight, your one fate
Your respect of golden gates
Your big smile after my voice
That told you thoughts about a choice
Your immense unique fight
Your sweet essence in your light
Your sweet song of liberty
Whose brawny waves roll over me

And I won't stop my hand
Scratching princess' name
In that golden sand
Though the salt
Comes back again
Dissolved
Cos I have tasted
Your delight, your one fate
Your respect of golden gates
Your big smile after my voice
That told you thoughts about a choice
Your immense unique fight
Your sweet essence in your light
Your sweet song of liberty
Whose brawny waves roll over me

I'll never believe
Who we are
And I'll never agree
With that sentiments surrounding us

Cos I have tasted
Your delight, your one fate
Your respect of golden gates
Your big smile after my voice
That told you thoughts about a choice
Your immense unique fight
Your sweet essence in your light
Your sweet song of liberty
Whose brawny waves roll over me