

Man On Fire

Otherwise

Am I a man who is on fire?
My ashes turned to fields of chords from a choir
I melt into the winds that sailed us away
And all the letters that never found their place

And out of all the walls come war machines
The captains of ships that sink in streams
And I believe I'm more than what you see
Welcome to the world inside of me

So strike me & light me
I need you to set me free
You strike me, you light me
We'll burn through a life so empty

You know I can't resist the fire (There is so much more to say)
You know I can't resist your fire (There is so much more to say)

I am a man who is on fire
My eyes stay closed but still my heart is a liar
The rings on a tree are not what they seem
The rivers underground all run through me

So strike me & light me
I need you to set me free
You strike me, you light me
We'll burn through a life so empty

You know I can't resist the fire (There is so much more to say)
You know I can't resist your fire (There is so much more to say)

Wake me when this nightmare's finally over
Take me away...

So strike me & light me
I need you to set me free
You strike me, you light me
We'll burn through a life so empty

You know I can't resist the fire (There is so much more to say)
You know I can't resist your fire (There is so much more to say)

There is so much more to say (There is so much more to say)
There is so much more to say (There is so much more to say)
There is so much more to say (There is so much more to say)
There is so much more...
