

Sentiment

Paradise Fears

Well since I met you all these questions keep me guessing here
Like what was life before and what happens when you disappear?
Cause every word that you say is pulling me closer
And now you're finding your way away from my bed to my bones to my head and now I know
I know

Here we go
No I must confess
Trying to rush towards what's permanent
Based on trembling love
Whispered under breath
I'm a slave to the sentiment

Since I met you I still write you into every song
But I can't tell if I love you or the story that I based it on
But every word that you say is pulling me closer
And now you're finding your way away from my bed to my bones to my head to my chest now I know

Here we go
No I must confess
Trying to rush towards what's permanent
Based on trembling love
Whispered under breath
I'm a slave to the sentiment

Cause every word that you say is pulling me closer
(And I know you sometimes and I don't know sometimes)
And now you're finding your way a way so much closer
(And I know you sometimes and I don't know sometimes)

It's only love when it works
We only know when it hurts
And I know you sometimes and I don't know sometimes
It's only love when it works
We only know when it hurts
And I know you sometimes and I know
I know

Here we go
No I must confess
Trying to rush towards what's permanent
Based on trembling love
Whispered under breath
I'm a slave to the sentiment

I'm a slave to the sentiment

I'm a slave to the sentiment