

Too Much of Anything

Pete Townshend

I think these hands have felt a lot
I don't know, what have I touched?
I think these eyes have seen a lot
I don't know, maybe they've seen too much

I think this brain has thought a lot
Searching, trying to find a crutch
I think this heart has bled once too often
This time, it's bled a bit too much

Too much of anything is too much for me
Too much and everything is too much for me

I can't remember before '49
But I know '48 was there
My ears let in what I should speak out
Mmm, there's something in the air

I'm overloaded on my way
Bye bye, you better keep in touch
I think your ears hear a whole lot of music
And like me, you've heard a bit too much

Too much of anything is too much for me
Too much and everything gets too much for me

I'm overloaded on my way
Bye bye, you better keep in touch
I think your ears hear a whole lot of music
And like me, you've heard a bit too much

Too much of anything is too much for me
Too much and everything gets too much for me

I think these hands have felt a lot
I don't know, what have I touched?
I think these eyes have seen a lot
I don't know, maybe they've seen too much

I think this brain has thought a lot
Searching, trying to find a crutch
I think this heart has bled once too often
This time, it's bled a bit too much

Too much of anything is too much for me
Too much and everything gets too much for me
