

Stay for a While

Peter Bradley Adams

Stay for a while
You have come so far
Tell me your trials
If it would ease your heart
You have carried the weight
On your own for so long
And the hour is late
And I know come tomorrow you'll be gone

I am not new
To the cost of love
[?] it's true
But still I miss a lover's touch
You can rest here tonight
For the price of a song
Sing whatever you like
'Cause I know come tomorrow you'll be gone

More men will come
In it's own sweet time
But until then
I will call you mine
And when we say goodbye
In the blue light of dawn
No, you won't see me cry
'Cause I know come tomorrow you'll be gone
Stay for a while
You have come so far
