

Little Star

Phil Keaggy

You have found a treasure;
Hold it now forever,
A prize we know so very hard to find.
There's nothing worth comparing;
And few know how to measure
The value of a peaceful, quiet mind.

Breathe within the heart of your desire
And listen to the words as you aspire.
Through fire, storm, wind, and rain
And broken dreams of yesterday,

You are where he wants you Little Star,
Close and within reach of where you are.
Rest assured in what you've heard,
Peace of mind, remain secure,
You are where He wants you Little Star.

Hear the voice and follow,
Find refuge in the hollow
Of the hand which touched this earth of old.
He speaks into the darkness,
And opens up a window,
And sends the light of life into your soul.

Breathe within the heart of your desire,
And listen to the words as you aspire.
Through fire, storm, wind, and rain,
And broken dreams of yesterday.

You are where He wants you Little Star,
Close and within reach of where you are.
Rest assured in what you've heard,
Peace of mind, remain secure,
You are where He wants you Little Star

You are where He wants you Little Star,
Close and within reach of where you are,
Rest assured in what you've heard,
Peace of mind remain secure,
You are still a child within His arms.

You are where He wants you Little Star,
Close and within reach of where you are.
Rest assured in what you've heard,
Peace of mind remain secure,
You are where He wants you Little Star.
Little Star.
