Over the Valley

Pink Martini

Over the valley I saw a silver cloud With a pink lining I said it right out loud There's no denying You are my one and only love And we'll see over the valley The moon rise above

Over the valley This house among the trees Where we've been hiding Making our memories And I'm deciding You are my one and only love And we'll be over the valley As the moon shines above

The autumn breezes carry all the bluebirds Down to where the sun still shines If we could hold this day In our hearts some way We would never roam Ever far from home

Over the valley Just above the fray The sun is setting And when we're old and grey I'll still be betting You are my one and only love And over the valley The moon shines above

The autumn breezes carry all the bluebirds Down to where the sun still shines If we could hold this day In our hearts some way We would never roam Ever far from home

Over the valley Just above the fray The sun is setting And when we're old and grey I'll still be betting You are my one and only love And we'll live over the valley You'll always be with me As the moon shines above
