Awake in the darkness
Locked inside for another night
Silent face full of hunger
The moon looks down and sends a light
Messages you can't decode
The time has come but the words have been Stripped away
Ruins are awaiting

It's my final destination
Now the blind are leading the blind
It's my final destination
But the spirit's still alive

Never paid to travel

Jumped the fare as long as I could And you don't need a reason There's somewhere to go Whenever you would Something that you call your own Obsessions come and tear my soul My soul away Ruins are awaiting

When I lay me down to sleep I pray for an eternity And I listen to you breathing Can I take it all with me?