

Two Lives

Randy Crawford

Maybe I'm a dreamer, maybe just a fool
Lately I can hardly see the sun
If you had a secret, I could take a guess
But nothing in your eyes seems to hold me
Truth or consequences, which one will it be?

Someone said that time will ease the pain
Of two lives love has torn apart
But I believe whoever wrote that song
Never had a broken heart

One of us is hiding, one of us can tell
No one wants to be the first to know
Someone has to answer, because someone has to ask
But keeping on like this, is torture
Going undecided, you know is twice as bad for sure

Someone said that time will ease the pain
Of two lives love has torn apart
But I believe whoever wrote that song
Never had a broken heart

Oh no, I can't believe it's over
It's over, 'cause I
I need you more than ever and ever

Someone said that time will ease the pain
Of two lives love has torn apart
But I believe whoever wrote that song
Never had a broken heart

Someone said that time will ease the pain
Of two lives love has torn apart
But I believe whoever wrote that song
Never had a broken heart