

Wrong Night

Reba McEntire

I set my mind to it
Said „I wasn't gonna do it”
No how, no sir, no way
I wouldn't give my heart up
Gonna keep my guard up
And save it for another day

Then you walked in
With that crazy grin
And everything I swore before
Got lost in your eyes
And flew right out the door

Suddenly I heard the love songs
Playing real soft on the jukebox
Somebody ordered up a moonlight
And painted stars all across the sky
Is it gravity or destiny?
Either way there's nothing I can do
Looks like I picked the wrong night
Not to fall in love with you

I briefly resisted
But my heart insisted
It was gonna be giving in
Hard as I was trying
There was no denying
Which one of us would win

You came up beside me
And asked if I'd be
Open to have a dance
Right then I knew
This thing was out of my hands

Suddenly I heard the love songs
Playing real soft on the jukebox
Somebody ordered up a moonlight
And painted stars all across the sky
Is it gravity or destiny?
Either way there's nothing I can do
Looks like I picked the wrong night
Not to fall in love with you

Suddenly I heard the love songs
Playing real soft on the jukebox
Somebody ordered up a moonlight
And painted stars all across the sky
Is it gravity or destiny?
Either way there's nothing I can do
Looks like I picked the wrong night
Not to fall in love with you

Oh looks like a wrong night
Not to fall in love with you
