

End Like This

Rhys Lewis

We were tryna move out
Tryna find our own place
Dreamin' 'bout the houses that we can't afford
A table in the kitchen, breakfast in the garden
Even the color that we'd paint the door

Yeah, I could see the future
Happy ever after
Even told my brother this time I was sure
That I'd found someone forever

I never thought it would end like this, no
I never thought it'd be where our story goes
I never thought it would end like this
But you turned the pages
And now we're just strangers
I never thought it would end like this, no
I never thought it'd be where our story'd goes
I never thought it would end like this
But you turned the pages
And now we're just strangers

I still sleep on the left side
Like you're lying with me
I keep on forgetting you're not coming back
And I still reach for two cups
When I'm making coffee
I can't stop myself from living in the past
When you were someone forever

I never thought it would end like this, no
I never thought it'd be where our story goes
I never thought it would end like this
But you turned the pages
And now we're just strangers
I never thought it would end like this, no
I never thought it'd be where our story'd goes
I never thought it would end like this
But you turned the pages
And now we're just strangers

I never thought it would end like this, no
I never thought it'd be where our story goes

I never thought it would end like this, no
I never thought it'd be where our story goes
I never thought it would end like this
But you turned the pages
And now we're just strangers
I never thought it would end
Never thought it would end like this, no
Never thought it would end, never thought it would end
Never thought it would end like this, no
