

What A Woman Really Means

Roberta Flack

When I wake up in the morning
After every night we meet
There is no room for breakfast
And my hunger is for a repeat

'Cause the times we spent together
Are so few and far between
When it makes a man forget
What a woman really means

In the early afternoon
I relax and take a break
That's when my mind is on you
Far away from a day's work

'Cause I know it won't be long
Till you satisfy my dreams
And I really get the feeling
What a woman really means

Don't forget
What a woman really means
Don't forget
What a woman really means
Don't forget
What a woman really means
Don't forget
What a woman really means

In the twilight of the evening
When the Sun is going down
My love for you is stronger
So good when you are around

You have so much to offer
That the moments in between
Help me make my dreams mine
What a woman really means

Don't forget
What a woman really means
Don't forget
What a woman really means
Don't forget
What a woman really means
Don't forget
What a woman really means
