

Dreams Are Bigger

Ron Sexsmith

Whole lot of sunlight going to waste
I've got to turn it on me
And feel its warmth all over my face
Until I'm back on my feet
Nothing's as difficult as it seems

'Cause if your dreams are bigger than your worries
You'll never have to worry about your dreams

Whole lot of fools you'll have to endure
There's only so much I can take
And though the blues may darken my door
I've got to turn them away
To make room for happiness, floor to beams

'Cause if my dreams are bigger than my worries
I'll never have to worry about my dreams
Yes, if your dreams are bigger than your worries
You'll never have to worry about your dreams

Yes, if your dreams are bigger than your worries

You'll never have to worry about your dreams

Whole lot of people bringing you down
Out to make you feel low
But maybe once they've figured it out
They can never touch your soul
They'll all start trembling in their jeans

'Cause if your dreams are bigger than your worries
You'll never have to worry about your dreams

I'm booked up with happiness, floor to beams

'Cause if my dreams are bigger than my worries
I'll never to have worry about my dreams
'Cause if your dreams are bigger than your worries
You'll never have to worry about your dreams
'Cause if your dreams are bigger than your worries
You'll never have to worry about your dreams
